In the late 1950's two Italian Americans received a contract for their new trucking company to infill the new San Mateo development called, "Perkside". Mr. Lelio Giorgi and partner, Dante Venturini trucked in loads of clean fill in this new development next to Mr. Venturini's prized water-ski spot. Both fell in love with the waterside location. Mr. Giorgi quickly put down a deposit for, "One of the best lots", with homes selling at the time for a mere $30,000 or less. He moved his wife and daughters from San Francisco & found great new friendships on the lagoon. All the neighbors had so much fun, they founded the San Mateo Power Boat and Water Ski Club to expand their activities on and beyond the lagoon. I would especially like to thank Mr. Giorgi for sharing with me his treasured memories that have contributed so much to the Lagoon Living Newsletter. I hope to inspire other readers to share their photos & stories.

2012 Mid Summer Raft Off

Michael Sawyer & family growing up on the lagoon

Imagine it's the middle of summer and every lagoon resident is invited to the biggest bash ever on the Lagoon, or the 2nd biggest perhaps. Michael Sawyer, life-long 2nd Generation Lagoon Resident, (and Owner of Trade Print, the printer of this newsletter), tells me when he was just a boy (pictured to the left), that Navy Admiral George K. Drex organized a spectacular Navy Demonstration with Vietnam Era River Boats blasting from 0 to 40+ MPH and turning 180 degrees on a dime while firing deafening rounds of mortar blanks over the empty grazing lands of Foster City. It was a vivid memory of Michael's childhood on the lagoon. While having no Navy connections... (cont. Pg. 3)

About the Author

We moved to the lagoon in 2006. It was my first purchase, my wife's second. She's SF City and I am the Midwest suburbanite who lived on a river and grew up skiing. I love our family time on the lagoon. The process of buying and making this our dream home is what inspired me to become a Realtor and to create Lagoon Living.

27th Annual Bay Front Clean-up Day

The Daily Journal captured Mark Flowers & his daughter in the September 29th issue covering San Mateo's 27th Annual Bay Front Clean-up Day. Mark, a lagoon resident shares his experience... it's true...I've been a Peninsula resident my entire life, but my wife and I were pleasantly surprised to find the marina lagoon, and our home when we moved here 4 years ago to start our family. I am an avid waterman and wanted to find a place locally that would embody all the activities our family loves on the water. This year, we welcomed our... (continued Pg. 3)

Below is our market over T-540 days. ASFR are attached single family, DSFR are detached (free standing homes), followed by TWIN and COND. Prices for single family homes on the water are $150k-$300k or more than the off water comparative. While there is still a very strong demand for the waterfront, buyers in general are hunting for low prices. For buyers, it can take awhile to understand why waterfront values are so different from non waterfront homes. I work with buyers who have said, "I get it Andrew, just plug me in to the next opportunity to own the waterfront". I've helped many individuals and families fulfill their waterfront interests whether it has been to buy or to sell. If you have considered selling and would like to explore the path of least resistance; with qualified buyers of serious intent, and without having to always be, "show ready" there may be potential to deliver an off market offer which is amenable to you. Likewise, if you know those who want to own on the water or off, I will serve them with the professionalism which upholds your expectation should you think to refer me. I am glad to provide references and believe that client's needs and desires must be met in order to meet my own.

Whether about realty or an interested neighbor, reach out anytime, as I would enjoy hearing from you!

Sincerely, Andrew Lomano

History of the Marina Lagoon Part II

The front page depicts a map of Seal Slough circa 1950. Look closely at the right side and you will see the Southern tip of the Shoreview neighborhood being developed. The San Mateo Airport is where Parkside Plaza is today. In the late 1950's Parkside would become the first development to border the adjacent Seal Slough; a tidal estuary of the San Francisco Bay where in the early 1900's lumber & merchandise was floated into the heart of San Mateo to build our city.

If you live on the West Shore of our Lagoon, look at the County Record for your property (If you do not have access to it I can get yours for you). Excerpted below is what should be on each of our County Records if we, or our predecessors, had bought the rights to the 20 feet of "Access way" that extends across the width of each of our lots. This constitutes the core of our right to the use of our lagoon. It is the reason that readers should be interested in MLAC meetings (Marina Lagoon Action Committee). Parkside and Los Prados have sewer and utilities running parallel to the old service road bordering the tidal slough. It became apparent that the road was unnecessary. The greater use of the tidal slough would be to develop the Marina Lagoon and to allow bordering owners to purchase the rights to use the adjacent land. Residents petitioned the city to purchase the additional acreage and to be re-assessed on it so that the tax revenue would fund the effort to dike and dredge Seal Slough. Renamed the San Mateo Marina Lagoon, it became a watershed for runoff catchment as well as a public body of water 8 feet deep at its center whereby the community and wildlife could enjoy the splendor of this waterfront treasure. Shared by the public and by the wildlife that migrates and lives on the lagoon year round, (See back page Lagoon Wildlife), we have an active and diligent Harbor Patrol whose mission is to ensure safety on our waterway. A contract for weed abatement makes our water sports pleasurable. In an era of deep public cuts, it is vital now more than ever, that WE ALL WORK TOGETHER TO PROTECT OUR RIGHTS and realize lagoon front homeownership needs to consistently be defended. We organize through MLAC, I encourage your involvement as this affects our lifestyles and our property values. For more information on MLAC contact me: mlacmail@gmail.com, Rick Secuda at: rsecuda@gmail.com or Rich Hedges at: richhedges@msn.com.

(continued from page 1) and residences on our Eastern Shore cuttells mortar rounds, we have many fun loving neighbors and a city that may let us take over Aquatic Park for an afternoon. We get a plan to the Harbor Patrol and seek permission to let us beach our boats or anchor them and lash them together, called "Rafting off" on one another and hoping boat to boat to shore meeting new friends. Boat, paddle, sail, walk or drive to our party. Boat rides & grill delights will be a plenty. With a little planning and a pot luck style neighbors new & old can exchange acquaintances.

To preserve this amazing place we participated in this year's coastal clean-up. My daughter Zow and I, pictured, were out on the lagoon cleaning debris along with many local volunteers. It was a great success, great fun, and I'd encourage everyone to participate in the next one! Final thoughts... Lagoon Leasing?

May 2012

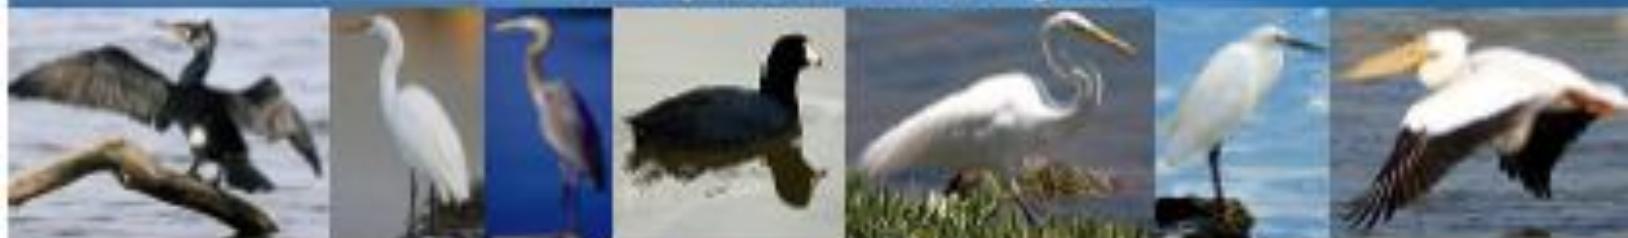

Lagoon residents young and old love to work hard and play hard with a true passion for fun. The economy has would-be owners weighing the investment more now. While waterfront prices are at yesterday's deals, loan requirements are more stringent; leaving some to consider leasing over lagoon lifestyle. Recent leases range from $3,000-$4,200 for 3-4 bedrooms. Owners may consider the long term potential of a quality tenant and a possible, "Lease With An Option To Purchase". The option is purchased by the buyer at the time of the lease and is monetarily significant. It can be a great tool for the lessor / seller & lessee/future buyer but there can be pitfalls.

Whether just information and direction or agency in working together, I am firstly a good neighbor and secondly a professional businessperson who can help you achieve your real estate desires. Sincerely,

Andrew Lomano
